

Handwriting practice lines for the Uncial script. The page contains ten horizontal rows. Each row is defined by three horizontal lines: a top line, a middle line, and a bottom line. On the left side of each row, there is a vertical column of ten small squares, alternating between white and grey, serving as a guide for letter height and placement.

